

Please DENY Bellsouth's petition to end broadband regulation. The Bell's historical (and apparently returning) monopoly position over telephone lines has prevented competition in the telecom sector for so long that independent Internet Service Providers are otherwise unable to economically service their customers without regulatory access to legacy networks.